The value of smart packaging

Much will be possible if everything is networked.

Customer Success

Only successful customers buy again and are eligible for upgrades or orders for consumables.

Brand Loyalty

Storytelling can lead to higher brand loyalty. The more someone knows about a brand, the tighter the tape.

POS Communication

The last, purchase-critical push is often not until the point of sale.

Opening Channels

Simplify product registrations to open new communication opportunities with customers

Real World Analytics

Learn more about using your own product and its users.
Where is it consumed? When will it interact?

Sweepstakes

To print algorithms and protection from forwarding instead of millions of individual codes. The products can already be distributed millions of times.

Regulatory Issues

There are more and more rules instead of fewer and fewer.
Barrier-free content (readable on the mobile for the blind) may soon become mandatory.

Digitales Business

If a networked device is not networked, there's no chance of a new digital business model.

From Barcodes to GS1 Digital Link

GTIN (Global Trade Identification Number) is the key

- More capacity
- Logistics
- POS systems
- Consumer information

GTIN (Global Trade Identification Number) is the key

Many more defined and free attributes are possible: weight, Gewicht, Product dimensions, packaging size, recycling notes, configuration data, unique product ID, SIM card number, phone number, allergens, nutrition information, etc.

Version 2 of the standard will bring rules for URL shorteners.

The standard brings safety for customers

A seamless transition when changing the service provider is guaranteed.

Customer owns the domain

Standard defines how the URL is constructed

An ISO standard defines how a QR code is built

No problems if there is no longer a service provider or if the customer wants to change it.

From Barcodes to GS1 Digital Link

Digital Links can be printed on packages today and risk-free will remain on the packaging in a transitional period (until all POS have been updated).

Barcodes
